FIFA is the world’s #1 game of club football. FIFA was created by EA FIFA through the partnership of FIFA, owners of the FIFA World Cup™ and UEFA, who make the official match ball, official match ball designs, kits and related merchandise. The full FIFA license covers grassroots club football around the world, with every club protected by the intellectual property of FIFA, UEFA and the owners of each club. The FIFA license covers everything from training to competitions (friendly, cup, league and international), including the right to use specific match ball designs. Other competitions that take place around the globe are licensed, including the English Premier League, the African Nations Cup, the Argentinian Super Copa, and South American competitions including the Copa Libertadores and Copa Sudamericana. FIFA was the first football game available on the Sony PlayStation, a position the game still holds today in the home consoles,

EA SPORTS FIFA games sell more than 400 million annual copies of the FIFA franchise on all gaming platforms. Make no mistake, FIFA is football, and FIFA is fun. It's the perfect fit for the player.
