FIFA 22 features a new set of animations that enable players to run at a higher speed and accelerate more swiftly. It's also equipped with Precision Dribbling, which helps players control the ball with greater skill and precision. New animations also improve player behavior in possession and give them more flexibility, allowing them to push the ball on with greater ease. This unique technology delivers more realistic ball movement and impacts, creating unpredictable changes in play. A new game mechanic, "Pass & Move," is also included. Passing and moving are not just skills carried over from FIFA 21. "My No. 1 objective when creating FIFA 22 was to make the ball feel more responsive, and I achieved that with this new technology," said Andrew Yip, EA Sports FIFA Lead Multiplayer Gameplay Engineer. "This technology allows players to more realistically run, pass, shoot and dribble at full speed, and the game's overall feel is much more satisfying and fun to play." The newest video from EA Sports FIFA Community Manager David "Ruthless" Lackey shows a number of new features set to be included in the game.

2) Expert Coach A new feature available in Career mode is the Expert Coach. It allows players to train matches based on simulations of rival teams, as well as single matches. Four scenarios are available for you to choose from: Single Match Coach: You can assign players to specific roles and watch a full match based on the cards you build through gameplay. Match Simulator: The match against the AI opponent is based on your setup. Player Simulator: You pick the cards you'll bring into the match. Training Simulator: You build a custom squad and practice friendly matches. You can also find players for you to use in your custom training setup, as well as additional role cards.

3) Player Profiles Players are now assigned specific player roles and it's easier than ever to customize them. New player roles include Defensive Midfielder, Forward, Attacking Midfielder, Central Midfielder, Number 10, Striker, Forward Wanderer, Centre-Forward and Left-Winger. You can also adjust the roles and skills of your squad. A new "Player Profile" button will appear in the Gameplay screen (between "Skill Tree" and
